JEFFREY STOOPS,
Plaintiff,
vs.

Civil Action No. 1:06-cv-630

COMMISSIONER OF SOCIAL SECURITY,
Defendant.

REPORT AND RECOMMENDATION
(Dlott, J.; Hogan, M.J.)

This matter is before the Court on plaintiff's unopposed motion for attorney fees under the Social Security Act, 42 U.S.C. §406(b)(1)(A). (Docs. 12, 13). Plaintiff seeks an award of attorney fees in the amount of $8,705.25 for work done before this Court as provided for under the Act.

Pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 406(b)(1)(A), a court may award a prevailing claimant's attorney a reasonable fee not in excess of 25 percent of past-due benefits recovered by the claimant for work done in a judicial proceeding:

Whenever a court renders a judgment favorable to a claimant under this subchapter who was represented before the court by an attorney, the court may determine and allow as part of its judgment a reasonable fee for such representation, not in excess of 25 percent of the total of the past-due benefits to which the claimant is entitled by reason of such judgment. . . .

42 U.S.C. § 406(b)(1)(A). See Horenstein v. Secretary of Health & Human Servs., 35 F.3d 261, 262 (6th Cir. 1994) (en banc) (court may award fees only for work performed before the court, and not before the Social Security Administration). Fees are awarded from past due benefits withheld from the claimant by the Commissioner and may not exceed 25 percent of the total past-due benefits. Gisbrecht v. Barnhart, 535 U.S. 789, 792 (2002). In determining the reasonableness of fees under section 406(b), the starting point is the contingent-fee agreement between the claimant and counsel. Id. at 807. “Agreements are unenforceable to the extent that they provide for fees exceeding 25 percent of past-due benefits.” Id. The Court should also consider factors such as the character of the representation and the results achieved. Id. at 808. See also Rodriguez v. Bowen, 865 F.2d 739, 746 (6th Cir. 1989) (en banc). The Court should consider whether deductions are appropriate for improper conduct or ineffectiveness of counsel and where counsel would “otherwise enjoy a windfall because of either an inordinately large benefit award or from minimal effort expended.” Rodriguez, 865 F.2d at 746. Also relevant to the reasonableness issue are the hours expended by counsel before the District Court and the lawyer’s normal hourly billing charge for noncontingent-fee cases. Gisbrecht, 535 U.S. at 808.

In the instant case, the District Judge adopted the Report and Recommendation of the undersigned Magistrate Judge reversing the decision of the Commissioner and remanding this matter for an award of benefits pursuant to sentence four of 42 U.S.C. § 405(g). (Docs. 9, 10). Acting pursuant to §406(b)(1)(A), the Commissioner withheld twenty-five percent of past due benefits on plaintiff’s account - or $8,705.25- as a potential contingency fee to be awarded to plaintiff’s counsel. (Doc. 12, attachment). Counsel and plaintiff executed a contingency fee agreement for 25 percent of past due benefits. Id. Counsel requests the full 25 percent of back due benefits as the fee in this case.

In support of the request, plaintiff submits that his counsel, James Roy Williams, expended a total of 19.25 hours of attorney time on this case before the District Court. Id. Attorney James Roy Williams states he has over 20 years of bar membership, has extensive experience in Social Security matters as outlined in the fee application, and charges an hourly rate of $300.00 per hour. Id. Dividing the requested fee of $8,705.25 by the 19.25 hours counsel worked on this case produces a hypothetical fee of $452.22 per hour. In determining whether counsel would “enjoy a windfall because of either an inordinately large benefit award or from minimal effort expended,” Hayes v. Secretary of Health & Human Servs., 923 F.2d 418, 422 (6th Cir. 1990), quoting Rodriguez, 865 F.2d at 746, the Court notes that “a windfall can never occur when, in a case where a contingent fee contract exists, the hypothetical hourly rate determined by dividing the number of hours worked for the claimant into the amount of the fee permitted under the contract is less than twice the standard rate for such work in the relevant market.” Hayes, 923 F.2d at 422. As the Sixth Circuit explained:

[A] multiplier of 2 is appropriate as a floor in light of indications that social security attorneys are successful in approximately 50% of the cases they file in the courts. Without a multiplier, a strict hourly rate limitation would insure that social security attorneys would not, averaged over many cases, be compensated adequately. A calculation of a hypothetical hourly rate that is twice the standard rate is a starting point for conducting the Rodriguez analysis. It provides a floor, below which a district court has no basis for questioning, under the second part of Rodriguez’s windfall rule for “minimal effort expended,” the reasonableness of the fee.

Hayes, 923 F.2d at 422.

The Hayes “floor” in this case for Attorney Williams is $11,550.00, representing 19.25 hours times an hourly rate of $300.00 multiplied by 2. The $8,705.25 fee requested by counsel in this case is less than the total “floor” of $11,550.00 under the Hayes calculation. Thus, the Court concludes no windfall is to be had here by counsel. See Damron v. Commissioner of Soc. Sec., 104 F.3d 853, 856 (6th Cir. 1997); Hayes, 923 F.2d at 422. In addition, there is no evidence or indication that the representation in this matter was substandard or that counsel was responsible for any delay. Gisbrecht, 535 U.S. at 808; Rodriguez, 865 F.2d at 746. Counsel achieved a good result in this case and, having reviewed the fee request in light of the criteria set forth in Gisbrecht and Rodriquez, the Court finds that a fee of $8,705.25 is reasonable. Counsel thus should be awarded $8,705.25 in fees under §406(b)(1)(A).

II.

The Court therefore RECOMMENDS that the §406(b)(1)(A) motion for attorney fees by plaintiff's counsel be GRANTED, and that counsel be AWARDED $8,705.25 in fees.
